Shaker

The original Shaker furniture makers were not inhibited by fleeting trends. Their priority was always to consider the practicality of a working kitchen.

At Unpainted Kitchens, we have adopted this ethos to create a range of Shaker style cupboards that are functional, durable and excellent value for money.

The timeless Shaker design is a perfect blank for most handles, the choice of which gives the kitchen a traditional, retro or contemporary look.

Regency

Our Regency range reflects the classical sense of proportion, elegance and harmony so beloved of the cabinet makers of the early 19th century.

The Regency kitchen features raised and fielded panels to each door, making it the perfect complement to any property, whatever the era.

With a suitable choice of handles and work surfaces the Regency will sit happily in any home, from a small country cottage to a grand town house.

Edwardian

With the Edwardian Range, emphasis is placed on creating a sense of airiness and understated elegance.

Cabinets feature linear mouldings on each panelled door and drawer front making the kitchen a perfect compliment to your home whatever the era.

The Edwardian range of furniture will ensure your kitchen is both elegant and reflects a time of classical sophistication.

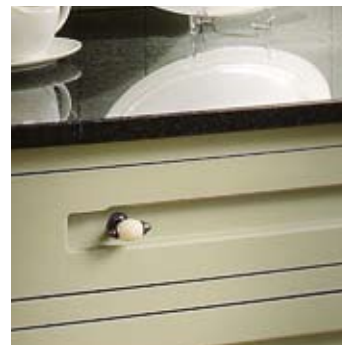

Brampton

The Brampton Range gives the ever popular Shaker style of cupboard a grandeur twist.

With its recessed panelling and stop chamfer detail, the Brampton will add timeless charm to your kitchen.

It will also suit a more contemporary environment for those who find our Shaker Range a little unadorned.

Cock Bead

The Shaker, Regency, Edwardian and Brampton styles can be further enhanced with the introduction of a Cock Bead detail.

Cock Bead is the term used to describe the rounded moulding detail to the cupboard framework. This simple device was introduced to give furniture a more delicate and elegant appearance.

Cock Beads are common on many pieces of late 18th & 19th Century furniture and provide surface interest to the eye and the hand.

All images are of an Edwardian kitchen with a Cock Bead detail to the cabinet framework.

Ancillaries

Unpainted Kitchens can supply a comprehensive range of ancillary items to complete your kitchen.

We specialise in building custom made cupboards to fit your existing or new appliances.
